

My call quality is poor, what could be causing this?

Saved From: <https://voipo.com/help/article/my-call-quality-is-poor-what-could-be-causing-this-88.html>

---

Generally, poor call quality is a result of an issue with the internet connection. There are multiple tests you can conduct to test your internet connection.

VOIPo provides a utility for testing that can be downloaded here. If you are having call quality issues, please run this utility, select option 2 for a detailed test, and email the created text file with the results to support@voipo.com.

There are also third party speed tests that you can run. While VOIPo does not endorse or have any affiliation with these tests, the following are popular:

www.speedtest.net

myspeed.visualware.com

If your internet connection appears to be functioning normally and you continue to have call quality issues, please contact support by emailing support@voipo.com or visiting support.voipo.com and submitting a ticket.